

The People's Column

To the Clubs of the 4th District, T. F. W. C.

Dear Co-Workers:

The announcement of the dates of the District meetings reminds us this is election year.

A change in administration is looked forward to with interest and speculation, as to who will be the successor to the worthy incumbent, Mrs. Fred Robinson.

That the Nominating Committee may not be charged with presenting a "cut and dried" ticket, it is asking the clubs, if any have a woman to fill the office of President, First Vice President or Second Vice President, to send names to the chairman, that they may be entered upon the ticket. A candidate for the office of President should be, first—a woman of executive ability, familiar with the Federation in its many departments of work; it is essential she should be a woman of leisure that she may devote the necessary time to the work; third, she should be a woman of vision with the pride to lead the District to heights.

Please bear these qualifications in mind when selecting your candidate. The District convenes at Timpson, April 18, 19 and 20. Let us have a representative meeting. Yours to serve faithfully,

Mrs. Tyler Haswell, Bryan;
Mrs. Joe Solinsky, Beaumont;
Mrs. M. Hetty Curry, Chm.,
1219 Barlett St., Houston;
Nominating Committee.

East Texas Cities Keen On Convention Unmasked Men Rob Brownwood Bank

MEET CLERKS AT DOOR AND GUARD THEM

Herd All Employees In Vault and Make Good Escape

OBTAIN $5500 IN CASH

Meet Clerks As They Come To Open Bank For Business

(By Associated Press)

BROWNWOOD, March 13.—The First National Bank of Brownwood today was robbed of $5,500 cash by two unmasked men who escaped after locking the employees in a vault.

The robbers met the first employees to arrive at the front door and at the point of revolvers forced them to open the bank. One man then accompanied the clerks inside while the other stood guard at the door.

As the other employees arrived they were also ushered into the bank by the robber at the door. After the man inside had gathered up all the loot available the employees were herded into the vault and the men escaped.

Those in the vault extricated themselves but too late to see in what direction the robbers departed.

GOOD CATTLE FOUNDATION OF DAIRYING

ELEMENTS OF SUCCESS IN INDUSTRY TOLD TO BRYAN LIONS

The Bryan Lions Club at its Tuesday luncheon heard a very interesting discussion of some of the problems of the dairying industry by a local dairyman who is making a success by hard work, close study, personal attention, and plenty of "stickability." The speaker was none other than Carl Wiprecht, owner and operator of the Wiprecht Dairy situated just west of the city.

In discussing some of the things that lead to the success of the dairy industry, Mr. Wiprecht said that one must first have good cattle. Then comes the human part of it, which calls for good feeding. Good feeding is necessary first from the standpoint of the livestock itself; it means better products and better products mean better health for the consumer.

Brazos Women To Hear Address On Citizenship

The regular March luncheon of the Brazos Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the LaSalle Hotel at 12:30 on Friday. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. W. B. Cline or Mrs. L. O. Wilkerson, and the club women invite all women of Bryan to join them on this occasion.

The principal speaker for the luncheon will be Mrs. Jessie Daniels Ames of Georgetown, chairman of the inter-racial commission for the Southern states, who will go to Atlanta soon to make permanent headquarters there. Mrs. Ames is a speaker of note and in addition to her interest in inter-racial work is thoroughly conversant with legislative matters in Texas. Her subject of "Citizenship" will bear directly on the Texas laws protecting the welfare of women and girls and the responsibilities of women as citizens of the state.

Increased Farm Equipment in Brazos Regarded as Indication Of Dairy Development Progress

BY NELL BENTLEY

We have often heard that "One swallow does not make a summer," yet when the swallows appear we instinctively begin to prepare for warm weather. One car load of cream separators delivered last week to Bryan dealers and others in this immediate section of the state is not conclusive evidence that the dairy business is established in this trade territory, but it is indicative of a condition that points toward material development here in the near future.

MAJOR BATTLE NOW EXPECTED NEAR TORREON

Rebel Army of 22,000 Now Concentrated This Point

FEDERAL VICTORIES Reported From Many Parts To Break Revolt

(By Associated Press)

Heavy rebel losses were reported today as powerful federal and insurgent forces continued to converge on Torreon, where the next few days may witness either one of the biggest battles in the history of Mexican revolutions or a speedy disintegration of the entire revolutionary movement.

An army of 22,000 rebels is reported massing at Torreon, while General Calles was proceeding northward and 8,000 men under General Almazan were advancing from the east to descend on the rebel stronghold.

Government successes are reported from widely scattered points. Along the border in the heart of the rebel state of Sonora a serious defection of Indian troops hit the insurgents heavily. Rebel reverses in the east and west also are reported.

President Portes Gil is confident the revolt has been crushed and has stopped recruiting in the army by volunteer organizations.

WILL INTERNE REBELS WHO CROSS BORDER

Mission Workers Resign Here; Go To San Antonio

The monthly workers council of the Creath-Brazos Baptist Association, held Tuesday with the Baptist church at College Station was one of the best of the year despite the very inclement weather.

Rev. R. L. Brown, College Station, presided as moderator. The executive board accepted with regret the resignation of Rev. J. P. King, who has served Creath-Brazos Baptist Association as missionary for the past year. Rev. King and Mrs. King, who has served the association as president of the Association W. M. U., are leaving Bryan April 1 to accept similar duties with the Baptist Association at San Antonio.

The election of a successor to Rev. King will be deferred until the next meeting of Creath-Brazos Association at Anderson, Friday, May 3. No meeting will be held during the month of April, as many of the churches hold revival meetings during that month.

In the W. M. U. meeting held in connection with the association meeting, the resignation of Mrs. (Continued on Page 4)

Bryan, centrally located, was chosen because of its accessibility for a comparatively large number of dealers.

Famous Aviator Holding Non-Stop Los Angeles-New York Record Flies To Bryan to Visit Son at Academy

Captain Harry Hawkes, Houston aviator who recently established a new record for non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York, flew from Houston this morning to visit his son, David Fouts, a cadet at Allen Academy.

When Captain Hawkes circled about the A. and M. field in his big red 4-passenger plane, Cadet Fouts was the most interested of a little crowd of College and Bryan people who had gathered to meet the man who frequently has been compared to Lindbergh for his exploits in aerial navigation.

Cadet Fouts informed his father that a dress parade had been planned at Allen Academy for him he decided to stay over and also attended the Rotary Club luncheon, where he made a brief talk stressing the growing importance of the military service.

ALL QUOTAS APPARENTLY WILL BE MET

Strong Support Has Already Been Pledged

REGISTRATION WORK To Start Throughout Territory When Badges Come

Indications that other cities in East Texas would meet the quotas given them in financing the East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held here May 5, 6 and 7, and that much enthusiasm over the convention exists, have been uncovered by E. H. Astin, general chairman, and D. L. Wilson, chairman of the registration committee.

This report was made last night at the weekly meeting of the convention committee chairman by Mr. Astin. He stated that one member of Mr. Wilson's committee had reported the Brenham Chamber of Commerce sold on the idea, that a delegation of approximately 1,000 might be expected from that city and that its quota would be met.

Mr. Astin and Mr. Wilson spent a day in Houston and met with a fine reception there, according to their report. They had lunch with the Houston A. and M. Club and were pledged its cooperation and also that of the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

Will Meet Quotas

The indications are that the money asked for from the other cities in the East Texas district will come in more rapidly than in Bryan. Last night approximately $2,500 was reported as collected and in the treasury, an increase of about $300 during the week. The local quota from the business men and property holders was fixed at $6,000 leaving almost two thirds of the money yet to raise.

All committee chairmen reported progress in their work. Present indications are that all plans will be worked out in good season and that if the money is forthcoming there will be no question of the convention being properly handled so far as Bryan is concerned.

Mr. Astin announced that S. C. P. Vosper of Austin had been secured to direct the pageant, working with F. W. Hensel, chairman of this committee. The theme has not yet been determined but this will be announced shortly and the cast chosen.

Work Out Pageant Plans

The registration contest for the queen of the pageant will close early in April and the princesses

"Let it be the high privilege of this great and free people to establish a republic where rural pride is equal to civic pride, where men of the most refined taste and culture select the rural villa, and where the wealth that comes from the soil finds its greatest return in developing and perfecting that great domain of nature which God has given to us as an everlasting estate." — Dr. Seaman A. Knapp.

Little defense can be made for the action of the lower house of the Texas legislature in refusing to submit the question of the road bond issue to the people of Texas. In doing so the house arrogates to itself court of last resort powers that it should not be permitted to exercise in a matter of this kind. Without question there is a strong sentiment among the people of Texas for a bond issue to the end that the state may construct a state-wide road system, to be paid for by those who use the highways. For the lower house to decide that this is not a good thing for the people or that the people are not qualified to make a decision in this matter for themselves is taking in more territory than the average legislator should attempt to compass. If this action by the house, recorded yesterday, results in the defeat of the proposition in this session and Texas is doomed to remain in the mud and at the tail end of the procession of states from the point of good roads, then some of the legislators who have been most active in their opposition to the proposition of putting this matter up to the people should be called to task.

Opinion of Bryan citizens interviewed is unanimous that the East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention offers the community a wonderful opportunity for fine publicity at an extremely low cost, and that the convention is bound to benefit if the convention is properly handled here and the thousands of visitors entertained. On this basis there should be no hesitancy on the part of any citizen doing his share toward creating the fund to make these things possible.

Reports from Washington are to the effect that the changes in the prohibition laws and Hoover's attitude on enforcement are not altogether popular, as there is fear that some Sahara-like spots will take the place of the wet ones now so popular. Here's hoping that Herb doesn't fool 'em.

The new Texas marriage law will do away with the growing practice of routing out authorities at all hours of the night in order to issue licenses and perform ceremonies. The officials will be a bit happier and the parties to the marriage contract in many cases infinitely better off.

Hoover throws consternation into the ranks of the Hoovercrats by stating that he considers them republicans and not eligible for democratic places on bi-partisan boards and commissions. Evidently the president doesn't believe in the policy of playing both ends against the middle.

Murder for hire in New York and Chicago and booze and petting among high school students in many cities all are the result of lax enforcement of the prohibition laws and reason why every decent citizen hopes President Hoover's commission to investigate law enforcement produces some substantial result.

Possibility of Sinclair and Stewart combining to fight the Rockefeller interests is reported. If this develops Sinclair may learn that Uncle Sam is easy as compared to the combination of John D. and John D. Jr.

Twenty-five years ago workers affiliated with the Central Federated union of New York were asked to avoid non-union whiskey. That would be a good rule to put into effect now.

It is said Secretary Mellon will not retire until he has the financial affairs of the country on a basis as near his liking as possible. Then some other secretary will shoot the works.

If you don't believe that work is of more consequence than money producing more real sport, ask the men who have the most wealth.

With Exchanges

Fred H. Minor, Denton County Representative in the Legislature, was made Speaker-pro-tem when the Speaker, W. S. Barron, was compelled to undergo an operation. Minor has now had most of the honors of the House, with the exception of Speaker; he has served on most of the important committees, being now chairman of the Judiciary committee. He has nominated the past two speakers of the House and his friends believe that it would be fitting for him to be elected as Speaker at the next session. At the Thursday luncheon of the Rotary Club, Dr. L. H. Hubbard made motion that the Denton Club go on record as endorsing the candidacy of Minor for Speaker two years from now, and while the membership of the Club was favorable to such a suggestion the motion was not acted upon as matters of a political nature are not supposed to be dealt with in Rotary.—Denton Record-Chronicler.

We don't know any man in the Legislature who would make a better and safer Speaker of the House than Fred Minor. Denton would do well to back their man for that honor two years hence.

And now comes Bryan and wants faster speed limits for trains in its city limits. Says the Bryan Daily Eagle.

Railroad trains running through Bryan will be able to operate at increased speed in the near future following instructions of the city commission last night for the preparation of an ordinance, to be submitted at the next meeting, providing a speed limit of 15 miles an hour.

The Southern Pacific will be held in the new limits between Twenty-third and twenty-eighth streets. Regulations affect the L-G. N. probably will affect that line from Congress to Twenty-eighth. The railroad officials are of course making the request, as they claim autos and other vehicles are permitted to make faster time, and that trains can be stopped in 60 to 70 feet at 15 miles per hour, which is the speed asked for. Bryan has a law limiting trains to eight miles per hour, while Marlin only permits four, and both cities are being asked to permit faster speed. As the state law is reported to be 15 it is very likely the railroad request will be granted, since small size cities are not permitted to have laws in conflict with state laws. Secretary George Buchanan could walk faster than the speed now allowed in the good hot water city of Marlin, not to enter Editor Mayor Kennedy in the marathon. —Waco News-Tribune.

The Hearne Democrat, Editor J. Felton Lane's fine weekly paper, gives the particulars of an auto accident to a popular Texas newspaper woman, and sister of Mrs. W. M. Kelly of 2824 Sanger avenue, Waco, as follows:

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, editor of the Bryan Eagle, is resting comfortably according to reports that come from the Bryan hospital where the popular editor is under treatment for injuries sustained in an automobile accident at Valley Junction recently.

Mrs. Rountree was returning from Austin when the accident happened and was brought to Hearne for first aid treatment. Dr. H. W. Cummings, who attended her here, stated that her face was severely cut.

Mrs. Rountree has a host of friends in this section who are hoping for her speedy recovery.

Many friends over the state will join in the sincere hope for the speedy and complete recovery of Mrs. Rountree.

As the accident occurred at a railroad grade crossing, same will prove an added argument for the elimination of grade crossings wherever possible. An accident usually costs as much to the railroad and certainly more to the individual than an over pass or underpass, or an entire rerouting. —Waco News-Tribune.

Anxious to Wed
Seek Officials
After Midnight

T. J. Wilson won the consent of Miss Velma Andrews to marriage and apparently took no chance of her changing her mind, according to county officials, for he routed County Clerk Jess B. McGee and Justice Joe T. McGee out of bed at midnight Saturday to issue a license and perform the ceremony. Justice McGee married the couple in the clerk's office immediately after the license was issued.

Sunday another anxious couple called Clerk McGee to the court house to issue a license. They were Ossie Glenn and Clara Loud.

Other licenses issued Saturday were to Jimmie Stallings and Willie Mae Butler and Julius LaSalle and Daisy Campbell. This morning a license was issued to Arthur McVey and Ruby Kay.

At a big home coming reception Jim Reed said he would rather be with his friends than king of any other country on earth. One of the things that has endeared Reed even to his most bitter political enemies is his unalterable Americanism.

Boys' And Girls' Club Department

Job Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason and Home Demonstration Agent Lucy Givens.

Brazos Boy Sets Pace

County Agent C. L. Beason returned Tuesday from the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth having accompanied Morris Williamson, state pig club champion for 1928 and winner of the Swift & Company prize of a free trip to the great Southwestern Exposition. For several years Swift & Company have shown their interest in 4-H Club work by offering a free trip to the Fat Stock Show to the boy or girl who excels in livestock production. Heretofore the honor has gone to the western or so-called livestock counties, but in 1928 Morris Williamson, though really living within the city limits of Bryan brought the honor for the first time to Brazos county. Some two years ago he purchased a Poland China gilt of the highest breeding and with proper care, correct feeding and scientific breeding, he not only showed a profit on his enterprise, but he also produced hogs, both male and female, which became blue ribbon winners in far-away counties of Texas. Over on the Frank Merka farm now he has seen a boar from Morris' herd which is second to none in the county in type and breeding. No doubt some of Morris' hogs have already reached the great packing plant at Fort Worth, or some of us may have been enjoying the "striped" gravy made from a ham of a hog which Morris produced and which was shipped up from the packing plant. While attending the great Fat Stock Show, where the country's best livestock is exhibited and the cream of agriculture is displayed, and the latest creations in manufacture and commerce are seen, Morris enjoyed a trip through Swift & Company's great packing plant, a special escort having been appointed to pilot him through the various departments. On visiting the wonderful institution one cannot help being impressed with at least two things: First, the efficiency coming as a result of system used in every department, whether it be in the slaughter of animals or the wrapping of our breakfast bacon. Second, one must also be impressed with the fact that American people may feel assured of safe food products when coming from an institution where every precaution is taken and where every detail of sanitation is followed. No human hand is even allowed to touch the butter being molded and every piece of meat has the

U. S. Inspection stamp upon it.

The loading dock at the Swift plant has a daily capacity of one million pounds, or 50 cars. The beef killing department has a capacity of 1,800 head per day, 3,000 calves, and 3,500 sheep. What Morris Williamson did with- in the city limits, where most of the feed had to be purchased; other boys and girls living on the farm should be improved upon in their pig club work. Let's go.

Club Girls Choose Poultry

A majority of Brazos county club girls are taking poultry work as their productive project this year. Through the wise selection of eggs from good stock and good care during the incubation these girls are striving to get good hatchlings. Then the aim is to loose as few as possible. Prevention is the very best remedy for baby chick diseases and starting them off right is of utmost importance. Since club girls have learned the dangers of chilling, overheating, feeding too soon, giving improper food and unsanitary brooders they are determined to try to prevent their chickens from suffering from these causes. In offering helpful hints on poultry raising as the response to roll call at club meetings 4-H girls suggested many good ideas. One response was "give the chicks some butter milk. Milk is good for chicks as well as for children."

Excavation Work
Travis Building
Starts at Once

W. L. Wintzell and Thomas Wood, Sherman contractors who will build the Travis and Bowie schools and new city buildings, are in Bryan today getting ready for the actual work of building. Mr. Freeland of Giesecke and Harris, architects, also in Bryan and will aid in laying out the lines for the foundation work.

This morning Mr. Wintzell stated he expected to begin excavation on the Travis school building not later than Thursday. Today will be occupied in unloading materials and equipment which will be stored in a building that probably will be erected in 28th street close to the railroad and to the city building site.

By the first of the week work will be underway on both the Travis and Bowie buildings, it is believed, and that on the city building will be started by that time or a few days later.

KITTLEBAND NOT GUILTY FINDS JURY

One Ballot Is Reported Before Verdict Is Reached

KILLING IS ADMITTED

Evidence of Niece Is Thought Caused Acquittal

James E. Kittleband, admitted slayer of Henry Walker at Midway, Madison county, May 21, 1928, and with another notch on his gun, was declared not guilty of murder last night by a jury of Brazos county residents who are reported to have taken but one ballot.

Testimony in the trial began late Thursday afternoon. Witnesses for the state described the shooting, testifying that Kittleband fired three shots at Walker who made no attempt to defend himself and who had fallen to the sidewalk when the third shot was fired. The statement of Dr. Lawrence Curley of Midway, called by the state, bore out this testimony.

High points in the case for the defense were the appearance on the stand of Mary Helen Wakefield, 15-year old niece of Kittleband, and the defendant himself, the last witness called by the defense.

The Wakefield girl testified that she had told her uncle, only a few minutes before Walker was shot, that he had made improper proposals to her. Kittleband, who was as calm on the stand as though he were fishing, stated that he killed Walker because of what his niece had told him. He said he wasn't mad though he might have been a little excited. He made no denial of the killing and even admitted that he shot Walker when the latter had his arms up as though to ward off a blow.

The jury, which returned its verdict about 8:30 o'clock, was composed of George Smith, J. J. Dink, G. R. Blanton, T. C. Wade, N. H. McWhorter, E. A. Withers, B. C. Cash, E. J. Beard, J. T. Newcomb, C. C. Cobb, Frank Borek and Joe Bond.

One of the strongest arrays of legal talent engaged in a criminal trial in Brazos county courts in a number of years was seen in the Kittleband case. The state was represented by J. G. Minkert, who served as prosecutor here in place of County Attorney W. E. Nealey, who is ill. County Attorney A. T. McKinney of Nормangee, retained by relatives of Walker. The defense counsel included F. L. Henderson of Bryan and M. E. Gates of Huntsville.

The case was brought to Brazos county on a change of venue because District Judge S. W. Dean before whom the case would have been tried, was disqualified by relationship. Judges S. W. and W. L. Dean also sat with the defense counsel during part of the trial.

Tabor Community Plans Work For Fertility of Soil

The regular meeting of the Tabor Welfare Club, held on Friday night, was well attended and there were several visitors from Bryan. Miss Ella Bandelin, health nurse for Brazos county, was present and spoke on the importance of correcting physical defects in the school children. The club voted unanimously to purchase a set of scales to be placed in the school building and used to determine which children are under-weight and assist in the discovery of abnormal conditions of health among the children of that community in order that corrective work may be more effectively carried on.

E. B. Reynolds of the experiment station at A. & M. College spoke on the use of commercial fertilizers, advising caution and careful observation of results in order to secure the best results from the mixtures used. He based his statements on the results of experiments carried out over a period of 14 years at the local experiment station.

Announcement was made that two experiments in the use of fertilizer are to be carried out by Tabor farmers for the purpose of getting data on certain mixtures applied to the local soil.

A group of Allen Academy students including A. R. Locke, Bert Blanchette, John Henry Kirby, Henry Faulk, Wm. Hill and Chas. Hicks furnished entertainment in the form of negro dialect skits and stunts. The students were coached by W. O. Alexander, director of Y. M. C. A. work at Allen Academy.

First Gun Fired In Dairy Field By Athens Men

"Athens fired the first gun in the dairy development program of the Athens Review in Bryan, East Texas," said R. T. Craig, editor of the Athens Review in Bryan, for the basket ball game to-night, "and we are well pleased with the results, even if Marshall and Tyler have taken the lead away from us."

About three years ago, a market for cream was established at Athens, beginning with about 1,500 pounds per month. The volume at present is about 4,000 per month, and there is no trouble at all to dispose of every pound of butter made at the Athens factory. One of the largest hotels in Dallas gets its entire supply of butter from Athens.

While according to Editor Craig Athens trade territory has been carrying on a diversified farm program for several years and the peach crop of that section has been celebrated for its luscious quality for some time, the effect on business in general since the recent dairy development there has been very gratifying indeed.

Mr. Craig was one of the pioneers in the home orchard campaign now being carried on thru the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and educational forces of East Texas. He says that a campaign of publicity sponsored by the newspapers of East Texas had popularized this movement before the East Texas Chamber of Commerce through its agricultural development was in a position to direct such a campaign, and that the results with this very efficient organization active in the field have been little short of miraculous.

Athens wants a canning factory next. It now has a plant where black eyed peas are treated to kill both the germ and the weevils and prevent damage from weevils after they are treated. Black eyed peas go from this plant to all points in the United States to be used as a food product. They will not germinate and grow after treatment in the plant. This solves a problem that had for years kept black eyed peas, succulent and delicious food legume off the markets as a food product for many years.

Federal Expert Inspects Dairies In Bryan Zone

Great progress has been made in Bryan in the enforcement of the standard sanitary ordinance, according to Dr. M. M. Miller, milk expert of the United States Public Health Service who is now working with the Texas department of health and is making a close inspection of dairies in the 57 cities in the state that have adopted the standard ordinance.

Dr. Miller inspected all the dairies in the Bryan territory that produce milk for local consumption and stated that when it was considered that the ordinance has been in force only approximately one year conditions were exceptionally good both as to physical condition and quality of milk produced.

Dr. Miller was accompanied on his inspection by V. M. Ehlers state sanitary engineer, C. C. Hayes, city sanitarian of Waco and Sanitary Officer E. B. Spiller.

SLUMBER PARTY HELD AT BROCKMAN HOME

Huntsville Men Say Dairying in Walker Co. Grows

L. B. Baldwin of the Dixie Creamery Company and L. R. Tucker, associated with the Huntsville item, were here from Huntsville Friday to attend the dealer conference of the International Harvester Company, and to get whatever information they might relative to dairy development in this section of Texas.

Both expressed themselves as being more than pleased with the development in Walker county to date, and said that already there is a noticeable increase in the volume of business in Huntsville as well as a more satisfactory business condition throughout the county.

Their first move in developing dairying in that section was a survey to determine the number of cows and the volume of milk that could be depended upon the year around. Seventy-five thousand dollars was raised in one day to secure the location of a creamery there. The effort at present is being directed toward organizing milk routes. The Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce have undertaken to supply calves to all Walker county boys and girls who want to undertake a dairy project under the supervision of the county agent. Bull circles are being formed and the farmers of Walker county are buying better grades of cows as a means of gradually building up their herds.

Tick eradication, both Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Tucker acknowledged was the greatest problem yet to solve, and they added that "if ticks can be eradicated Walker county will do the job up right in the near future."

Later the judges were seated on a deach participant passed thru the room to be judged. Mrs. John Thompson received a stick of candy as first prize for her tacky costume. Miss Jane Rudasill happily received a box of popcorn as second prize.

Those present were Misses Jane Rudasill, Olive McWhorter, Retha and Mae Walker, Ray Mathis, Estelle Armstrong, Laura Barnes, Ruchie Cooper, Vella McNally, Marguerite Thompson, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Bessie Thompson, Messrs. Woodrow Walker, Oscar Wilson, Ezra Wilson, Frankie Nichols, Roy Barnes, Robert Presnal, Sam Walker, Howard Cooper, Earl McWhorter, Brooker Thompson, Roy McCall, George Broach, Mr. and Mrs. Will Presnal, John Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. S. ## Bridge Contract To Be Let Says Grimes Official

O. A. Seward Jr., county engineer for Grimes county was in Bryan Friday in connection with the construction of the proposed bridge across the Navasota river. He stated that this bridge would be built in the near future.

The plans call for the construction of the bridge east of the railroad bridge. This bridge will cost Grimes county $15,000 while the state is putting up $75,000. Brazos county, asked to pay $15,000 of the cost, has not contributed but will be asked to secure the right of way for the road running from the Brazos county approach of the bridge in its new location, west-erly to the present road.

Mr. Seward stated that the ideal plan would be to continue the road from the bridge east of the railroad into Bryan instead of breaking back across the tracks again to the old concrete road, which is said to be going to pieces rapidly.

Construction Work For City To Start

Money in Pecans When Shelled Is Girl's Experience

Pansy Sousares, an eighth grade student in the Smetana school was offered eight cents a pound for a quantity of pecans last fall. She thought this too little for her product so set about figuring out how she could realize more for her store of nuts.

One morning Miss Lucy Givens, home demonstration agent for Brazos county, came to the school at Smetana, and Pansy talked the matter over with her. Together they decided that if the pecans were shelled they should sell well the farm women's market to be conducted in Bryan the week preceding Christmas.

The school closed for the holiday recess, and Pansy went to work on her pecans. She found that she could crack and shell them out at the rate of 5 pounds an hour and that 3 pounds of pecans in the hull made 1 pound when shelled out.

When the day arrived for the market to be held in Bryan, Pansy had prepared during her spare time from other duties about her home 12 pounds of pecan meats, all sacked in half pound packages. These sold readily to the women who patronized the market at 80 cents per pound.

The profit to this farm girl who gave a little time and thought to the marketing of a farm product may be figured as follows: Thirty-six pounds of pecans in the hull that would have sold for $2.88 just as they came from the woods, requires slightly more than 7 hours of time to be converted into a product that sold for $9.60. The profit in this case was $6.91 or nearly $1 per hour.

This only shows what a girl may accomplish who thinks clearly and takes advantage of her opportunities, and we pass the story on to the hope that there are many girls and women in Brazos county who might profit by the fact concerning Pansy's pecans.

Miss Sousares was invited to tell the story of her pecan sale recently before a group of demonstrators.

FOLIAGE EFFECTS IN THE GARDEN

The texture and color of foliage is an important factor in decorative gardening, more important in shrubbery than in the planting of annuals, but something to be considered with the latter. A few groups of stately foliage plants in the annual border add greatly to its interest.

Chief of the foliage plants among the annuals is the castor bean, too large for the small border, but imposing as the center of a foliage bed or to adorn a corner of the yard where it is desired to hide an unsightly building. This is the largest leaved of all the annuals.

In contrast is the fine leaved fire plant, kodia trichophylla which is a regular miniature tree of bright yellow green leaves which in late summer turn to crimson. It is even handsomer in its green than in its red form. The colous, the fashioned "foliage plant" our grandmothers delighted to grow in the house, can be raised from seed easily in a variety of brilliant coloring.

The perilla gives a rich dark purple leaf and is much used in ornamental plantings. The variegated maize or corn is a striking plant with leaves striped in green, white

THE TOWN DOCTOR SAYS

GET SOLD ON THE PLACE WHERE YOU LIVE

Every thinking citizen wants to see his community grow, and most people are willing to "get behind and boost." But from the letters people write me, it appears that they do not know how or what to do, or what to keep from doing.

The problem that confronts every community is one of selling: you have to sell your town—sell people on your town. It sounds simple—and it is simple—when you know how.

A few years ago I had the pleasure of conducting a campaign to sell a state. In practically every town someone would say, "That's simple and sounds like a good idea, but who'll buy it?"

The procrastinator and the fellow who was satisfied with things as they were would say, "This is a pretty good town; why sell it?" And the knocker would chime in with, "That is a good idea. Sell it and get rid of it."

Then there was the individual who said, "Wal, we been getting along all these years without it, why should we change now?" Perhaps you think the same, as pertains to selling your community, but regardless of how you feel or think, the fact nevertheless remains that you must sell your community—sell people on your community—if the place where you live is to keep pace with modern times.

For a community to be modern it must keep up to and ahead of other communities. If one community makes rapid strides to the betterment of living and working conditions, becomes a more attractive and interesting place to reside in, if its people are happier, more content and more prosperous, it's up to other communities to profit by their experiences and not only do the same, but outdo them!

To keep ahead—be modern—requires constant changing. Bruce Barton says, "When we quit changing we're through," and to change requires salesmanship.

Selling a town or community is like anything else: First—is there a market? Second—is it marketable—suitable for sale as is, so that when sold it will stay sold? Third—to whom is it to be sold—who'll buy it? Fourth—how can it be sold? And fifth—who'll sell it—the sales force.

Answer these five questions; know the facts, and apply the knowledge to your town, and all problems of growth, progress and prosperity will come as a matter of course.

These questions can be answered—will be answered—in this column, step by step. If you will read them, study them, and do your part, you will be the one to gain. In fact, it's up to you.

You are to your town the same as a salesperson to a store. The store may have good goods, excellent stocks, right prices, a good manager, and everything that a first class store should have; but, if the clerks are indifferent, not interested whether they give you service or not, do not know the stock and don't sell you the way you like to be sold, sooner or later competition with salesmen and saleswomen who "know their stuff" and serve you the way you want to be served, will put that store on a back street or completely out of business, and the clerks looking for another job.

Your newspaper, service clubs, chamber of commerce, and other civic organizations can spend thousands of dollars and months of time, but in the end it depends on you. It's not a duty alone—it's business; good business if you do—poor business if you don't.

Yours is a good town—can be made a better town—so get sold on it.

will have been selected and following the determination of these the cast for the pageant will be completed in short order, it is understood.

N. B. Allen stated that he had made no definite plans for displaying the academy to the visitors but that these would be worked out and that he would make his announcements in good time.

Ed L. Cavitt stated that a decorating contract would be made in a few days and that an effort would be made to interest the business men in colored lighting for the floats of the business houses of the city. He also stated that much interest was being evinced in the plan to make the city beautiful with many flowers by convention time.

Dr. D. H. Reid, chairman of registration for College Station, reported that his committee still was working on the business men and was ready to begin on the registration as quickly as the badges arrived. Mr. Astin announced that these were due any day, and that as quickly as they were received the registration would start here and that badges would be mailed to the various Chambers of Commerce in the district in sufficient number to cover the quota fixed.

Plenty of Ice Water
W. C. Morris, in charge of arrangements for the big dance at A. and M. Monday night of the convention, reported that these were progressing but that he had not yet contracted with an orchestra as he had not found one at the price he was willing to pay.

W. S. Howell, in charge of headquarters arrangements, stated that ice water would be placed in convenient receptacles about the streets and that a tent would be placed over 27th street between Main and Bryan and benches and other seats installed. He also said that seats would be provided about the Carnegie library.

John S. Caldwell, in charge of traffic arrangements, reported a conference with City Manager J. Bryan Miller and that all his arrangements would be made shortly. It is proposed to close Main street between 25th and 28th streets, with some concessions to businesses of a particular nature.

Canvass Nearby Cities

Dr. E. V. Humbert, in charge of information at A. and M. stated that all arrangements had been made and that proper booths would be installed for this purpose. Complete information about open house programs in the different departments would be made available soon, he said, and this would enable shape to pass on to visitors.

D. L. Wilson, chairman of registration, said that as quickly as the badges were received the committees assigned to this work would canvass the city by blocks. He also said that committees had been assigned to canvass the various cities in this section of Texas and that this work would start without delay. A final drive for funds in Bryan also would be made shortly, he said. All committees working here on the assignments levied on business houses were asked to make a full report to date by the last of the week in order that the final canvass could be planned and put through.

Treasurer Is Receptive
W. B. Walker, treasurer, reported about $2,500 on hands and stated that he remained in a receptive mood and hoped that the capacity of the treasurer so far as his ability to handle funds is concerned would be sorely tried.

J. Webb Howell, chairman of the committee on business programs, reported that all arrangements were working out in good style. He stated that all arrangements would be made for a luncheon Monday for directors of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and other notables. This will be given, according to present plans, in the basement of the First Baptist church, in which building the business sessions of the convention also will be held.

Mrs. Tyler-Haswell, chairman of the ladies committee, reported that plans had been laid for the entertainment of the visitors. Golf, swimming and bridge and other games would be arranged for on Monday morning, with a tea Monday afternoon from three to six. A buffet supper for the princesses also is being planned for Sunday evening. The entertainment for the ladies will be staged at the country club.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, chairman of the press committee, stated that plans were being made for the entertainment of the visiting newspaper men. A breakfast has been proposed for Monday morning and this and other plans will be worked out in the next week or ten.

CATTLE

summers of the products. Much of the feed in this section is very deficient in calcium. "One person doesn't like this food or that food, while another does, and so it is with a cow," said Mr. Wiprecht. "You have to watch her individual appetite." Too, dairy cattle require more than just good feed; they require general good condition. They are very comparable to the human; if allowed to stand out in bad weather they will become sick. Some of the most harmful things encountered by the dairy industry are bitter weeds and other poisonous weeds and ticks. "Ticks are the biggest drawback to the dairy industry," said Mr. Wiprecht.

The success of the Wiprecht dairy is known far and wide. This was evidenced by the fact that Rotarian C. L. Beason, who was a visitor and who related some of his experiences while attending the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, stated that a number of people inquired of him about Mr. Wiprecht and his dairy. His widespread acquaintance is further evidenced by the fact that he receives hundreds of letters each year from various parts of the country.

County Agent C. L. Beason returned yesterday from Fort Worth where he attended the Fat Stock Show and Exposition, and in response to his introduction by Lion Eberstadt, related some of the interesting features of the exposition, including the fire which destroyed three of the exposition buildings.

Lion W. E. Leverkuhn gave a brief summary of a recent trip by himself and three Bryan high school boys to Marshall where they engaged in a stock judging contest. The Bryan team was awarded second place, winning a $30 cash prize. Mr. Leverkuhn also stated that when it was learned they were from Bryan, scores of people made inquiry about the coming convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Those in attendance were: J. Bryan Miller, W. E. Leverkuhn, W. S. Howell, S. E. Eberstadt, C. L. Beason, Joe Kaplan, M. Schulman, Bill Wimberly, W. E. Paulson, Jno. M. Lawrence Jr., Lamar Jones, R. T. Armstrong, Noah W. Damsby, J. V. Burts, J. L. Dickenson, J. Coulter Smith, C. C. Redding, F. D. Fuller, A. S. Ware, S. D. Snyder, Thos. Gordon Watts, M. M. Erskine, Henry Locke, Carl Wiprecht, Mrs. Roy Danforth and R. C. Franks.

INCREASED

ness men, farmers and educational workers in this area, are thinking and talking in terms of dairy development.

Many New Phases
There have been dairy movements and dairy movements within the memory of farmers and business men of today, but the development in progress now in Texas and other southwestern areas is marked by features that have not been evident in previous development programs. That the right foundation for steady and consistent growth has at last been found, is the opinion of experts. The difference between this and previous programs is found in the organization of bull circles, the promotion of boys and girls calf clubs night schools for farmers and business men, and the increased opportunity of securing reliable information along the lines of dairy activities and dairy markets through farm publications and thru educational channels such as vocational teaching departments and extension service workers.

The natural advantages of Texas, comparing so favorably with those of northern states where dairying has proven the most successful, calls forth the repeated statement that dairying could be made even more profitable here where mild winters and long pasture seasons reduce the necessary investment in barns and roughage feeds, and where winter feed may be grown and stored more easily and quite as cheaply as in the northern states.

Tick Is Not Bar
In making the transition from cotton farming to the more diversified programs including dairying and stock raising, the business men of a trade center must be as thoroughly sold on the new program of farming as the farmers; and must be willing to render every assistance in the matter of adjusting financial problems and promoting educational campaigns so that all phases of the production, marketing and financing may be coordinated, and every handicap to the amateur dairyman be overcome in the beginning.

While apparently all authorities are agreed that ticks do not make the dairy business better, there is a variety of opinion as to just how serious a handicap the tick actually is to the dairy industry. Cattle in tick infested areas, generally speaking, are of inferior quality to those produced and kept in tick free areas. Then it is reasonable to suppose that dairy development will never reach the peak of its possibilities in tick territory. Yet with scientific immunizing methods, and reasonable care on the part of the farmer as to moving non-immune stock into infested areas, it looks possible for dairy development to move forward quite materially even with the tick present. Obviously, this latter conclusion should be no argument for any county to lay down on tick eradication work or conclude that the dairy business will not be better and more profitable with the tick absent entirely from the field of action. Dairy profits will unquestionably be bigger with no ticks to feed, just as profits from beef cattle are greater in tick free areas.

Winter pastures and home grown feeds stored away for the winter season, are apparently the deciding factor in profitable dairying activities from a local standpoint. A canvass of markets in Brazos county shows that the cream receipts are much heavier through the summer months when grass is good and the yield of milk is increased for that reason, while that also is the season when the prices go down. In the winter months when prices are higher, the cows go dry or decrease in milk flow for want of proper feeding, and the farmer ceases to sell milk and cream just at the time when he would receive most of his product. Apparently little effort is made by Brazos county farmers to provide winter grazing crops and store away grain feeds that would make it possible for them to feed their cows a high milk producing ration at nominal expense.

The intermittent patronage of farmers who have milk for sale in the summer and let the cows go dry in winter, brings a problem to the local market field that would need to be solved before any considerable investment in creamery equipment would be justified. It is the solving of these problems that requires the whole hearted cooperation of every business man and farmer in a trade territory before dairy development can proceed to any degree of accomplishment. There is need for education, financial agreements and regulation, and intensive effort on the part of all to bring dairy efforts within a safe and sound system of procedure that will assure ample production at all seasons of the year to justify establishing markets for all surplus products.

Other trade centers have solved their production and marketing problems. Bryan and Brazos county can take care of local problems if we may have concerted action on the part of business men and farmers.

HEADS CHOSEN FOR YEAR BY CITY FIREMEN

STATE MEET DELEGATES ARE ALSO CHOSEN LAST NIGHT

Members of the two fire fighting companies of Bryan held their annual elections last night, choosing officers for the current year and also delegates to the state convention and committees that next January will elect a chief and assistant chief for the department.

Protection Company No. 1 elected the following officers: Ray Pippin, foreman; R. W. Warren, assistant foreman; I. E. Warren, president; O. Gregg, secretary; John Whitman, treasurer; I. E. Warren and S. W. Noto, delegates to the state convention; I. E. Warren, R. W. Warren, Ray Pippin, S. L. Noto and Will Blakez, department delegates. Chemical Company No. 2 elected T. E. Jenkins, foreman; Milton Baker, assistant foreman; W. B. Saunders, president; Bob Cowart, vice president; secretary and treasurer, C. E. Jenkins; T. H. Jenkins and Milton Baker, delegates to the state convention; Milton Baker, C. E. Jenkins, H. Berger, Bob Cowart, W. B. Saunders, department delegates.

Other trade centers have solved their production and marketing problems. Bryan and Brazos county can take care of local problems if we may have concerted action on the part of business men and farmers.

Cotton Project Is Selected by Bryan High Boy

Joe Cotropia has some rather well worked out plans for his work in vocational agriculture in Bryan High School this year. He boards in Bryan and goes to school but goes home each week-end and does what work is necessary on his project. His story follows:

"I am a junior in high school and taking vocational agriculture for one of my subjects. To take this work it is necessary to carry a project. Since I live in the Brazos Valley, a cotton growing region, I decided to take five acres of cotton for my project.

"The first thing we discussed in class in the line of cotton was about purebred cotton seed and after I had decided to use purebred seed I selected New Boykin because I wanted to try out this variety in the valley and because it had been tested at A. and M. College and had shown high production, high turn-out and long staple. I have ordered five bushels of this seed.

"I will do all work with a Farmall tractor and attached implements. In preparing the soil for seedbed I will bed and re-bed with 22 inch sweeps. I will plant about the last of March. I will give my crop early cultivation during the growing period.

"I am expecting the total expense to be about $27.50 per acre and if the season is fair I will produce from 400 to 500 pounds of lint per acre. If the market for cotton will average as much as 18 cents per pound I will make a net income of around $255 on my project."

Other visitors were: Mesdames Geo. Lee, Tom Harrel, Rev. and Mrs. Thos. Gray and E. H. Darby of Iowa. Rev. W. M. Purcell, Mesdames R. F. Holbert, J. Walter Smith, J. W. Bruns, Royal Lott, W. C. Todd, and Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Yeager of Navasota.

SWIMS RIVER EVADING MEN ON HIS TRAIL

Burleson Man Seeks Safety In Jail At Bryan

HOUSE IS INVADED
Shoots Two Men In a Saturday Night Fight

Pushing his way through thickets and undergrowth in the Brazos valley, wading and swimming the Brazos river, Leroy Tice, Burleson county farmer Saturday night made his way 12 miles on foot to A. and M. College and thence to jail in Bryan in his effort to evade members of the Y. M. Barron family after he had shot Clarence Barron and Y. M. Barron following an argument at the Tice home. Clarence Barron was shot in the right side with a load of No. 7 shot and is now in a local hospital. His condition is regarded as serious. Y. M. Barron was only slightly wounded.

Tice, who moved to Texas from Kansas about five years ago and has been a tenant on the Allen Smith property since that time, said that last night he was having a dance at his home for his children and their friends when Clarence Barron, foreman on the Smith plantation, his brother and father came to the place to enjoy the fun. He said he objected to language used by one of the Barrons and the trouble started.

Clarence Barron, he said, drew a revolver on him and was shoved aside by one of the Tice boys. Then Y. M. Barron, who was a candidate for sheriff in Burleson county a few years ago, caught the boy by the arms and another Barron struck him in the face with brass knuckles. Tice said he then lost his temper and went for his shotgun.

When he appeared with the weapon he said the Barrons were outside his home and that Clarence Barron again drew his revolver. He fired one shot to knock the weapon from Barron's hand, he said, and the load struck Barron in the right side. Tice says Y. M. Barron picked up the revolver and fired two shots at him, one of the bullets taking a piece from the front of his trousers. He fired one shot, emptying his gun and then ran.

Tice said that he wanted to get to Bryan but that he found the bridges were guarded and that a sand had about a mile below the bridge leading to Bryan had been guarded by turning the lights of an automobile on it. Tice said this morning that he got to the river bank, after working his way thru the underbrush and taking advantage of all the cover he could find, and then laid in the water for about thirty minutes before he could get across the river which he waded and often had to swim.

Once on this side of the river Tice made his way to A. and M. College from where he telephoned Sheriff J. H. Reed of Brazos county who went out and brought him back to jail. Sunday morning Tice was taken to Caldwell by Sheriff Clinton D. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Eugene Bates of Burleson county.

Two sons of Tice made their way into Bryan Sunday morning. They stated that men armed with shotguns were about the Tice home most of the night and that Y. M. Barron, known as "Windy", and a son came to the Tice home Sunday morning and made a thorough search of the house and out-buildings. They were heavily armed according to the boys.

Taylor Recovered
Young Overseer on Streets Saturday

Seth Taylor, overseer on the Ward Moore plantation, who was shot about two weeks ago by a negro named Whitfield, was on the streets Saturday evening and apparently was practically recovered from his wound. He was shot through the body with a Winchester rifle bullet.

Whitfield, who officials say has not been located, was named in charges filed with Justice J. T. McGee this morning. Whether or not Whitfield was the victim of summary justice has been a much discussed question and the statement made at the courthouse this morning that a Brazos bottom resident had said the negro was "taken with cramps while attempting to swim the river."

OLD CRIMINAL COURTS FUNCTION NO LONGER
(By Associated Press)
BEAUMONT, March 13.—The last grand jury to be drawn in either of the two district courts in Beaumont is now in session.

This was brought about by the creation by the present legislature of a new district court to handle criminal matters only. This leaves the two present courts, the fifty-eighth and sixtieth, to handle only civil cases.

Brazos County Man Builds New Industry

Burning charcoal is a new industry that has been developed in Brazos county by Frank Dobrovony, who lives one mile south of A. & M. College. Mr. Dobrovony has built three kilns which he runs very successfully, and in this way turns his green timber into a paying investment. He finds a ready sale for his charcoal right here in Bryan at the barbecue pits and among the colored population for ironing purposes.

"The burning isn't much fun," he said when questioned as to how it was done. "I fill all three kilns with green timber, post oaks, elms or any kind, and fire it, then of necessity must watch it closely for three days and nights before it is burned out a finished product." When questioned as to whether he found it profitable he answered, "It beats farming cotton."

Home Agent Need In Robertson Co. Is Widely Urged

HEARNE, March 11.—A petition is being circulated by the Robertson county Chamber of Commerce in the county towns requesting the commissioners court to make provision for a county home demonstration agent. The petition has a considerable number of signatures to date.

Judge J. Felton Lane, editor of the Hearne Democrat, has announced that he will again sponsor through the medium of his paper a yard and garden contest, and the Shakespeare club will aid in all arrangement for the project.

Judge Lane's cash contribution to the contest is $25 to which sum the Shakespeare club adds $10. Other organizations will no doubt join in the project.

Tongue Cut Out; Pony of Negress Badly Mutilated

When Mammy Rowe, an aged negro woman, went to feed her pony Sunday morning she saw that it had difficulty in eating. Examination showed that the animal's tongue had been cut or torn off.

Sheriff J. H. Reed was called by neighbors of the aged woman and went to her home, near Wixon creek about 8 miles east of Bryan. He found that about half the animal's tongue had been cut off and that the cutting had been done with a sharp weapon, as it was clean and not jagged.

The animal may not recover from the main: as it is said there is some question as to whether or not it will be able to eat and it may be necessary to kill it to prevent death by starvation. No clue to who maimed the animal, which it is thought was done by someone with a grudge against the owner, was found by the sheriff.
